

One neural surface contains a family of solutions

Check every region of parameter space

New parameter queries after training

Accuracy varies across the family

